Review: It is amazing how well this massive topic is covered on 40 chapters of 6 pages each. Very accessible language, presented in a way that I think the non-scientist will find comprehensible and interesting. Although this is presumably intended as bait to pique interest in a young non-specialist, I enjoyed every bit of it (I have tertiary arts and sciences...

Description: Science is fantastic. It tells us about the infinite reaches of space, the tiniest living organism, the human body, the history of Earth. People have always been doing science because they have always wanted to make sense of the world and harness its power. From ancient Greek philosophers through Einstein and Watson and Crick to the computer-assisted...
